

What did we talk about last week?

Last week, we said that Include has a new project about Redhill's heritage.

We said that heritage is a place's history and its stories.

We also said that a place's heritage can be seen in monuments, buildings, churches, statues, land, train stations and much more.

For example, the Eiffel Tower in Paris is part of France's heritage.

The new project will help people with communication difficulties to learn more about Redhill's heritage.

Learning about Redhill's heritage can feel very important for people that live there or have some connection with Redhill.

This week, we'll continue to talk about heritage. Please think about a place that is important to you. We will talk about people's heritage this evening!
