Priority Setting Partnerships

Are you a young person (aged 16–35) who has used secondary mental health services recently?

You could help shape mental health research across Kent, Surrey, and Sussex!

If you have lived experience of severe mental illness and recent use of secondary mental health services (e.g., inpatient treatment, NHS community mental health teams, crisis teams, or specialist services) you could join the James Lind Alliance Priority Setting Partnership (JLA PSP) as a Steering Group member

We want to identify the top 10 priorities for research questions related to secondary mental health care in adolescent and young adults (16–35 years old) in Kent, Surrey, and Sussex.

The group will meet once a month and discuss what mental health research should focus on in order to make a real difference, considering regional priorities and underserved populations. We can then secure funding to find solutions!

This is a paid opportunity. If you would like to find out more, please contact ARC-KSS-MH@sussex.ac.uk
